I am writing to express my interest in being your sperm donor. Although I look a lot younger, I am a [REDACTED] half Brazilian and half Portuguese man who was born and raised in Brazil.

I have a very strong family connection and value my family a lot. Both my parents studied in Universities, and they always encouraged me to go further. I have studied Law back in Brazil and Business Economics [REDACTED]. I first came to the UK back [REDACTED] where I lived in Wales for a year. I currently live and work in [REDACTED] UK.

I have always wanted to be a father, but unfortunately, I have not been able to do so in my own life. I was married for 17 years, but we did not have any children together. After my divorce, I realized that I wanted to help other people who are struggling to conceive.

I am a healthy and active man with no known medical conditions. I am also highly intelligent and educated. I am confident that I would be a good addition to your family, and I would be honoured to help you achieve your dream of parenthood.

In addition to my physical and academic qualifications, I am also a kind, compassionate, and loving person. I am close to my family and friends, and I value close relationships above all else. I believe that a strong family/friendship unit is the most important thing in life.

I am eager to live life to the fullest, and I don't take myself too seriously. I have a good sense of humour, and I am always up for a laugh. I believe that laughter is the best medicine, and I want to fill my life and the lives of those around me with joy.

I know that you have gone through a lot to get to this point, and I am so grateful for the opportunity to help you start your family. I promise to be a supportive and loving donor, and I will always be there for your child, even from a distance. I will always send positive energy and good vibes to you and your children

Here are some additional things that I would like to share about myself:

- I am a hard worker, and I am dedicated to my career. I am also a good listener, and I am always willing to help others.
- I am passionate about travel and I love to experience new cultures. I have visited so far 39 countries
- I am a loyal friend and I am always there for the people I love. I am a very close-knit family. I am very close to my parents and siblings, and I talk to them regularly. I also have a large group of close friends, and I make time to see them as often as possible as I believe that the secret of happiness is strong connection to good people.
- I believe that I would be a good addition to your family because I have a lot to offer. I am a healthy, intelligent, and loving person with a strong ethic and a passion for life. I am also committed to being a supportive donor.

I understand that choosing a sperm donor is a big decision, and I want to assure you that I take it very seriously. I am here to answer any questions you may have, and I am happy to provide additional information about myself.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Hi dear child,

Apologies for not even know your name. I'm the sperm donor who helped your parents to have you. I'm writing this letter to say hello and tell you a little bit about myself.

I was born and grew up in Brazil, in a loving and supportive family. My parents are both highly educated, and they instilled in me the importance of education and compassion. I'm grateful for the values they instilled in me, and I try to live my life by them.

I moved to the UK in [REDACTED] to learn English and pursue a career in business. I've been living [REDACTED] ever since, and I'm very happy here. I love the city's diversity, culture, and energy. I'm also fortunate to have an amazing group of friends that I know I can count with.

I've always wanted to have kids, but unfortunately it didn't happen for me. That's why I decided to donate. I wanted to help other people who were struggling to conceive a child. I'm so grateful that I was able to help your parents to have you. I know how much you mean to them, and I'm sure you'll have a wonderful life together. They have gone through a lot to finally have you as their kid. I am sure you have been super loved throughout your life, and I am sure you love your parents back.

I'm a curious and adventurous person. I love to learn new things and experience new cultures been travelled to 39 different countries so far. I am very creative, and I am always trying to bring/make new little things to break the routine. I'm also a bit of a philosopher. I love to think about the big questions in life, like the meaning and purpose of existence. I love spending time cooking with friends while we have deep conversations.

I'm not sure if you'll ever read this letter, but I wanted to write it anyway. I hope it gives you some insights into your biological background and the reasons why I decided to donate. I also hope it inspires you to live a full and meaningful life. I will always be sending your way my best positive thoughts and good energy.

Remember, you are loved and cherished. You are a gift to your parents and to the world.

Warmly, Your Donor

P.S. I will be here for you, if you ever want to talk.
