About Me

When I was little I was very quiet and shy. My parents always told me that I was the perfect boy, always polite, kind, and curious. I was very good at school and diligent in my duties.

Friends and colleagues always told me and I'm a good friend/colleague, loyal and always there to help when if needed. They also used to say that even the light is different when I'm in the room, and this was the most precious compliment I have ever received.

I'm very passionate and most of the time patient. But as a Sicilian I can get very hot blood if pushed too far. I love my family very deeply and they are the centre of my world.
