About Me

The Hardest thing a person can do. Writing about themselves...

I'll start off writing about how I was as a kid from the little I can remember the earliest memory I have of when I was a kid was taking a CD from a music shop because I think I liked the cover, it was very colourful. I was about 2 years old when this happened, so I didn't understand the concept of stealing...

As for my family I have a mum and dad and 2 siblings and as a household we make up a somewhat fun family who like to joke and tease a lot even if the family doesn't find it funny back. (I am the main culprit of this)

Religious beliefs are quite mixed, I was brought up catholic as were most of my family, but I would say we all are not religious overall and opened minded to others' beliefs in whatever form they might come in.

It's hard to pin down my personality as humans are way more complicated than having one set personality for life but if I had put it down to words I would say I'm a light hearted person. I like to joke around a lot (maybe too much), but I also believe that I can be quite logical thinking more than emotional, which can be good and bad depending on the circumstances.

As for my job currently, I work in IT as helpdesk service support dealing with people internally rather than externally it's an interesting job considering this is my first one ever.

My favourite book would have to be Macbeth I learned about it in secondary school for English as you might have done in school as well, I could write a whole other page on that but for the sake of whoever is reading this I won't. As for things I do currently as hobbies it would mainly be physical fitness and gaming and just experiencing new things in general, I'll give everything a go once.

Funnily enough despite my age I like 80s/90s and most genres at that, it just seems that they were way better at music back then despite me not being alive to experience it...

Goodwill Message

Future children of mine hear my words hopefully they are good ones...

The reason I wanted to give this opportunity to your parents or others in general wasn't for an extremely deep reason of any kind. It was simply because I could. If I can help someone with one of the most important things in someone's life, then why not help.

As for my hopes and thoughts about you, I hope you are enjoying whatever you are doing at the moment. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] I can say from my life and experience so far it definitely goes super-fast so enjoy the moment and enjoy the people and family around you. P.S have lots of fun as well.

My wise words even though I'm not wise at all would be "Yesterday is history, tomorrow is a mystery, but today is a gift. That is why it is called the present". These aren't actually my words but from kung fu panda (great film you should watch it) but it does resonate with what I want to say. Even though I'm still quite young myself time really does fly so enjoy, make sure to reflect on the good and bad times as they are all learning experiences for us to grow.

That's about all I had to say, I know I know super long I hope you didn't fall asleep while reading this. But yeah, I hope reading all this gave you an idea of what I'm like as a person and I hope it doesn't scare you off getting in contact, but yeah try and locate me if you can it will be a great game of hide and seek. (for legal reasons that was a joke) feel free to get in touch any time.

Lots of love my future children.

Handwritten Note

The reason for donating for me was quite simple in my case I just thought if I was capable and able then I should help people that are not able and have something so great and important in their lives. with such a simple process on my part, which on the otherhand may not be easy for them.
